HEALTHINFO 2024: The Ninth International Conference on Informatics and Assistive Technologies for Health-Care, Medical Support and Wellbeing
https://www.iaria.org/conferences2024/HEALTHINFO24.html
November 03 - 07, 2024 - Nice, France

Progress in digital health has been greatly hampered by concerns over interoperability and security. Health systems have tried to tackle these challenges with solutions that broadly cover the scope of implementation frameworks, standards, policy, and governance environment. To date, countries have adopted one or a combination of these strategies to facilitate success in their digital health implementations to improve healthcare service delivery. It is high time that implementers begin to share their experiences and successes.

This special track aims to provide a platform for researchers, practitioners, and governments to share success stories of their progress, methodologies and approaches that have proved fundamental to solving system interoperability and or integration challenges.

Subtopics for contributions include, but are not limited to:

- Studies and reports on the impact of digital health policies/strategies
- Developing foundation architectures, models and standards for implementing interoperable digital health systems
- Digital health implementation, monitoring and evaluation frameworks,
- Processes/ methods for adapting existing systems to meet the contextual needs of another environmen
- Health system data platforms and ownership
- Applications of artificial intelligence in challenging healthcare environments,
- Security and privacy fears of healthcare users
- Digital literacy, skills, and knowledge to securely deploy and use digital health systems
